

Dr Marinda Robinson

MBChB

Obstetrics & Gynaecology

Dr Marinda Robinson works at St Vincent's Private Hospital Fitzroy.

Miranda Robinson is a female Obstetrician and Gynaecologist with over a decade of experience practising in Fitzroy. She's passionate about providing down to Earth, patient-focused care. Through her extensive experience she can discuss with you all aspects of Obstetric and Gynaecology care and is more than happy to manage all pregnancies including complex IVF and Twin Pregnancies. Marinda is also skilled in Vaginal Breech and Twin Deliveries and is happy to support those seeking a VBAC (Vaginal birth after caesarean section)

Dr Robinson can manage many gynaecological complaints including abnormal pap smears, heavy periods, endometriosis, polycystic ovaries, pelvic pain and ovarian cysts. She has a vast knowledge of all aspects of Family Planning including insertion of the IUD's.

Miranda graduated from Otago University in Dunedin New Zealand in 1994 where she was awarded the Obstetric Prize in her 5th year.

She emigrated to Australia in 1997 and began her training in Obstetrics and Gynaecology at Monash Medical Centre in 1999. She was awarded the Gold Medal in the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists Specialist Exams in 2002.

She completed her training at the Mercy Hospital for Women in 2003 and at the Norfolk and Norwich University Hospital in England in 2004. It was here that she gained a great deal of experience in gynaecological surgery.

She has private admitting rights at St Vincent's Private Fitzroy.
