Oncology Nurse Practitioner

St Vincent's Private Hospital Melbourne

We are delighted to introduce Oncology Nurse Practitioner, Ms Marisa Stevens at St Vincent's Private Hospital Melbourne.

Marisa has worked in oncology for the past 20 years, including employment interstate and overseas in both the outpatient and inpatient settings. She has accreditation as both a breast and lung cancer nurse.

In 2010 she initiated and undertook the oncology liaison nurse role at another large private hospital facility and is delighted to now bring this role to St Vincent's Private Hospital.

The liaison role provides patients, doctors, staff, allied health and family members a central contact point to ensure timely, co-ordinated care. The liaison nurse provides;

- education regarding diagnosis, treatment, and side effect management to patients
- follow-up support
- triage of unwell patients
- ensures allied health needs are met in a timely fashion

Her goal is to provide personalised care for each and every one of our patients.
